

Dave Freimuth

LEAN Development Manager

Dave joined MANTEC in 2007 and has over 17 years of experience with several companies and a very diverse background, most of which focused on process improvement. He received his Lean training from the University of Kentucky directly relating to the Toyota Production System. He has applied these skills in various leadership roles for 13 years at Harley-Davidson, Inc., and as Chief Operating Officer for a small company. Dave also worked at Case New Holland for 2 years. Dave's formal education includes Master's degrees from Penn State in Business Administration and Engineering, and a Bachelor's degree from the University of Delaware in Mechanical Engineering. He also has specialized training in financial analysis and business valuation and is a registered Professional Engineer. As a result of his experience and community service, Dave was a recipient of the Central Penn Business Journal's Forty Under 40 award.